FOREWORD

This is factual history of our Hollands and Jacksons since the American War for Independence.

Records have been established by the General Services Administration, the United States census rolls, county court house documents and historical sections of Texas libraries.

Blank pages have been placed after each part of the book so that additional material may be entered. Hundreds of family members, scattered from the New England states to California, have sent in their data and urged that they be preserved in permanent form. Grateful acknowledgment is made to every relative and friend who supplied information and inspiration, and above all, deep appreciation is expressed toward our immediate family whose encouragement and active assistance have enabled us to compile and publish this record.

DIRECTORY

The Revolutionary War ancestor is designated Generation 1. Thereafter, the first numeral will indicate the generation following him.

Generation 2 will carry only the numeral 2 and the initials of the person.

Generation 3 will carry the generation number, the initials of the person, and will be followed by the order of the children in the family, if the order is known to us. These third generation members are grandchildren of the Revolutionary War ancestor and their initials will be retained throughout their family record.

Generation 4 will be designated by Roman numerals as group heads.

Generation 5 will be designated by digits as family heads and all persons belonging will be listed before the introduction of a new Generation 3.

Names of towns and counties are in Texas unless followed by name of state or country.

Asterisks (*) in Part III indicate a certain line with the B. F. Jackson family.

THOMAS HOLLAND—R. S.

Thomas Holland served in the American Revolution from Virginia. From the National Archives and Service Records, Washington 25, D. C., we learn: "Thomas Holland, private, enlisted the 4th of September 1777 for three years in Capt. David Arrell's Company, 3d and 4th Virginia Regiment, commanded by Col. Thomas Marshall." From Nov. 1777 to Feb. 1778 he was listed as, "Orderly at Gen'l Hospital."

In Feb. 1778 the Company Muster Roll was dated Valley Forge and Pvt. Holland was listed as sick. He was back at work in May at Valley Forge with the 3d and 7th Regiments led by Lieut. Col. William Heth. The company was designated at various times as Capt. Reuben Briscoe's or as Capt. John Tebb's Company. This company was listed as being at Priamus, at White Plains, and in Sept. 1778 at Newark on a Week Command. This was followed by Pompton and Middle Brook with Col. William Heth and Capt. Robert Powell, commanding officers.

Pvt. Thomas Holland drew pay at six and two-thirds dollars each month.

In March 1779 he was On Furlough, and from May to December he was rated as Wagoner at Smith's Clove with Col. John Neville, leading the Third Virginia Regiment with locations at Rampaugh and Havrestraw.

Book Mark: 410, 200.

From Public Service Claims, Commissioner's Book IV, Req. C5427, Virginia State Library, at Richmond, we have: "December 22, 1783, allowed by the Court of Nansemond County, Virginia, pay for supplies furnished to the Cont. Line—Thomas Holland for beef furnished in July '81, Pounds 2-11-6 Virginia money."

Holland

In the Georgia Land Lottery of 1827 Thomas Holland drew two tracts of land for Revolutionary War Service (Knight's Roster of Rev. War. Sol. in Georgia, page 356). Thomas Holland resided at that date in Eley's District of Greene County, Ga. He drew:

Lot 22 District 21 Section 3, Troup County, Ga.

Lot 235 District 21 Section 2, Muscogee County, Ga.

These draws in the new part of Georgia went to men who served from other states.

In the 1827 Land Lottery Reprint by Houston, pages 5 and 30, we find the records just cited with the notation, "Thomas Holland, R. S." Certification was made by the Surveyor-General's Dept., 1516 Peachtree Street, Atlanta 9, Ga., under date of 25 May 1957, signed by Alexander M. Hitz and authorized by the Secretary of State, Ben W. Fortson, Jr.

Records in the Department of State Office, Atlanta, show that the first draw was for 202½ acres in the original county of Troup granted to Thomas Holland, R. S., on 12 Nov. 1827, registered in Grant Book for Troup 1-2, page 39. Plat of the survey is found in Survey Book GGGG, page 55.

The second draw was for 202½ acres in original Muscogee County, granted to Thomas Holland, R. S., on 16 Feb. 1829, registered in Grant Book for Muscogee 21-22 page 141. Survey Book NNNN, p. 163, 1827 Lottery.

Thomas Holland married Phoebe Rickman and their first children were born in Virginia. Nansemond County was claimed as their home and he was so listed in the earliest census.

About the year 1790-91 the Thomas Holland family was settled in Greene County, Ga. He was a tax payer in Wilkes County in 1792. The 1820 census listed Thomas Holland as owner of 20 slaves. However, late in 1820 and early 1821 he deeded Negroes to several of his children (Greene County Record Books GGG, pages 369-410). We copy one of the deeds in full:

Holland

Some family members list a daughter, Rebecca, who married Eidson, and another child, the twelfth, said to have died young. The ten listed above as recipients of the deeds cited comprise the list known to us and these we include in the forthcoming records. Being uncertain of the order of these children, we omit the numeral following their generation number and their initials.

THOMAS HOLLAND, JR.

Thomas Holland, Jr. and wife, Elizabeth, were living in Monroe County, Ala. by December 1820. Some relatives have said that he was a merchant in Claiborne, Monroe County, Ala. The U. S. Census for 1830 shows Thomas Holland under age 50, wife under 30, and three sons and one daughter in the home. Marriage records for Monroe County, Ala., page 26, lists the marriage of Lewis R. Holland to Mrs. Emily A. Caufield, 14 April 1836, with A. J. Taylor as Security. Page 42 lists the marriage of Mary P. Holland to Andrew J. Taylor, 24 March 1838, with D. W. Holland as Security.

Thomas Holland died about 1840 according to the letter in the Sarah Rickman Holland-Nelms family record and to the Monroe County Deeds.

Deed and Wills Book B, page 41, under the date of 20 Feb. 1841: Elizabeth Holland (widow of Thomas Holland Jr.) resident of the city of Mobile deeded Lot #116 in Claiborne to John S. Glidden. Andrew J. Taylor acted as administrator of the Thomas Holland estate and executed additional deeds in the name of Elizabeth Holland. Order Book 2, pages 181 to 184, contains the final statement of the estate by Andrew J. Taylor and show that Elizabeth Holland, Morris Roberts and wife, and H. M. Holland, possibly other members of the family, acknowledged their full interest in the estate as having been satisfied 14 Dec. 1849. We offer these statistics without benefit of research.

2TH Thomas Holland, Jr., b. 1780-90, probably in Virginia. Died in 1840, at Claiborne, Alabama. Married Elizabeth Hammond.

JAMES HOLLAND

2JH James Holland, b. about 1785, -d. in 1842 at Sparta, Tenn. Married by 1808 to Rebecca Hammond, b. 1789 in Tenn. -d. 1869 in Tenn. James Holland bought land in White County, Tenn., in 1826 and again in 1832. By the date of the 1820 U. S. Census, he and Rebecca had four daughters and two sons. In the the 1830 Census there were six daughters and three sons.

James owned Negroes, and his father, Thomas Holland of Greene County, Ga., deeded to him in 1820 a Negro boy, Ned. James Holland's estate was administered by his wife, Rebecca, in 1842. Three of the children were minors; Thursa was under fourteen at that date. Alstoine/Allstine Holland was made guardian to Thursa, Rebecca, and James Russell Holland. However, a later record shows that the minor heirs of James Holland asked that Ed Pollard serve as their guardian and administrator. The Alstoine/Allstine Holland estate settlement in 1844 may account for that change in guardianship.

Joseph Hopkins McDaniel and his wife, Phoebe, lived on the Caney Fork River in White County, Tenn. where he operated a ferry in addition to growing corn, cotton and sugar cane on a plantation.

In 1843, he, and several other men, decided to sell or free their slaves and move to a free state, keeping only two Negro boys for help. The men organized a caravan of eight wagons to carry the wives and children, the household equipment, farm implements, food for the families and for the animals, which consisted of oxen and a few horses. Diannah, eldest of the McDaniel children, related to her descendants many times how she; a nine year old, rode horseback from White County, Tenn. to Hamilton County, Ill.

Arnold Moss, who later married into the Holland family, acted as scout and hunter for the party during the trek of eight weeks. From Sparta, Tenn. the route led through Nashville to Hopkinsville, Ky. and on to Shawneetown where they crossed the Ohio River late in October, 1843.

They traveled the Shawnee Trail, or Old Goshen Road, which led from Shawneetown to Cahokia and Springfield, Ill. for a short distance then this party stopped in Hamilton County, Ill. and remained there on adjacent farms.

In this caravan were the McDaniel, the Berryman Holland, the Moss, the McColgin and two other families now unknown.

Holland

After the death of Phoebe Holland McDaniel in 1857, her husband, Joseph Hopkins McDaniel was married to a young widow, Mississippi Cox and they had five daughters: Martha, Mary, Alice, Ada and Hattie. With this second family, and three of the children born to him and Phoebe (Jane, James and William) Joseph Hopkins McDaniel moved to Texas where he died about 1891 at Sherman.

JOHN RICKMAN HOLLAND

2JRH John Rickman Holland, b. 8 May 1786 in Virginia, -d. 10 Nov. 1863 in Texas. Buried in the Old Dublin Cemetery, Erath County. Stone marks the grave.

Married 16 Jan. 1812 in Putnam County, Ga., to Elizabeth Walker, b. 1790, -d. 1861, (Marriage record, Putnam County, Ga., Book A, page 62.)

John R. and Elizabeth lived in Putnam County for some ten years and then moved westward. They were in Jasper, Monroe, and Pike, according to land transactions until 1826, and the 1830 U. S. Census lists them with their nine children located in Troup County. Ten years later they were in Walker County at Chickamauga, and several of the children had married. Shortly after that time John R. Holland left Georgia, stopped to visit his sisters and a son in Alabama and arrived in East Texas by late 1841 in Harrison County.

In Sept. 1846 John R. Holland bought from his friend, William Thomas of Harris County, a large tract of land in Milam District, carved from the old Mexican Municipality. This land had been an original survey issued by the Board of Land Commissioners, approved by the Spring Term of Fannin County District Court in 1842 in the Republic of Texas, to William Thomas for one league and one labor of land.

Attest: James Gorman
Charles Livingston

This certificate was confirmed by a Land Grant issued by the Hon. P. H. Bell, Governor of Texas, 19 May 1853, Patent #610,

Holland

Vol. 10, Abst. #753, Erath County. John R. Holland paid $700 cash for the tract, which was situated in Erath County later when it was formed from the old Milam District.

In December 1854 he divided this into 500 acre portions and deeded them to his children, Mary H. Bell, Sarah J. Dobkins, Simruda C. Covington, Thomas Walker, William A., and to Moses Holland of Georgia, a son-in-law. One son, John Benjamin, had died in Burnet County; another, Samuel Eley, was located in Burnet County, and a daughter, Ann H. Jackson, had died at Gatesville, but eight of the nine children were in Texas with their father by 1854, coming in three migrations.

Elizabeth Walker Holland remained in Georgia, living with a daughter, Martha Elizabeth, and her husband, Moses Holland, on a plantation in Chattooga County. Descendants of this couple, in Georgia, have told us that John Rickman Holland sent generous amounts of money back to Elizabeth as long as she lived.

MARY BURNS HOLLAND

Sketch written about my grandmother, Mary Holland Bell, by Mrs. A. A. Monroe, Dublin, Texas, 1955.

"Mary Burns Holland was born in Putnam Co., Ga., 26 Sept. 1815, the first dau. of John Rickman and Elizabeth Walker

Holland

Holland. She was their third child. Married in 1836 to Thomas T. Bell, Jr., of Tennessee, b. near Knoxville. It was said that Thomas T. Bell, Sr. and a Mr. Carmichael surveyed and planned the city of Knoxville.

"Mary and Thomas were listed in the 1840 U. S. Census in Walker County, Ga.

"In 1847 Thomas T. Bell, Sr. moved from Tenn. to East Texas where he built the first cotton gin and the first mill in Cherokee County. He was a successful man, a slave owner and member of the Cumberland Presbyterian Church. He died in 1862.

"Mary and Thomas T. Bell, Jr. started to Texas in 1845, but they tarried with relatives in Alabama where their fifth child, Jeoffrey R., was born in Feb. 1846. Later they arrived in Texas and settled in Rusk County. Thomas died in 1860 leaving Mary with eight young children. Her father, John Rickman Holland, gave her 500 acres of Erath County land at Christmas 1854 so she moved her family there and remained near Dublin until her death.

"That fifth child, Jeoffrey R. Bell, was my father. During the War Between the States he served as a courier enlisting at 16 years of age in Birds' Battallion. He was in the command of General Kirby Smith and surrendered at Clarksville. After the war he went to Erath County."

4JBH2 Samuel Lorenzo Holland, b. 26 Feb. 1847 in Burnet County, -d. in Feb. 1863.

After the death of John Benjamin Holland, the two older sons, even though they were only eight and ten years of age, became the mainstay of their mother and the younger children on the farm. In February 1863, it became necessary to make a regular trip to the Mormon Mill on the nearby river to have their corn and wheat ground for food. Samuel Lorenzo made the trip for his family. Other known members of the party were Lewis Jackson and Jonathan Ragle. Lewis was son of Elias and Elizabeth Lamb Jackson of Smithwick, Burnet County. The parents of Elizabeth Lamb Jackson had given her money to buy land, and some slaves, so she and her husband, with at least two children, had come from Alabama to the Burnet County area in 1850. Jonathan Ragle had married a daughter of Elias Jackson and they had two young children. (The Jackson and Ragle families appear on the 1860 Burnet County Census.) Benton Skaggs, a thirteen year old boy, was along and these four made the trip to the mill. As they were returning home Indians killed Lorenzo Holland and the two men.

Holland

Dr. M. L. Jackson, b. 1866, son of Elias and Elizabeth Lamb Jackson, was a well known physician for many years in Burnet County and he often told the story of the death of his older brother and his brother-in-law as he heard it in his youth.

Susan was a daughter of Tom Glimp who came from Tenn. and was married to Ardelia Woods about 1854 at La Grange, on the Woods' plantation, sometimes called Woods' Prairie. Parents of Ardelia Woods were Norman and Jane Wells Woods. Norman Woods was in the Texas-Mexico War and was imprisoned in the Castle of Perote in old Mexico after the ill-fated Mier Expedition. He wrote many letters to his wife, Jane, and the young children, while in prison. He died there in 1844. A brother, H. Gonzalvo Woods, escaped and made his way back to Texas and later married Jane and helped to rear the children, one of them being Ardelia.

Tom Glimp and Ardelia Woods had two daughters; then on 5 Feb. 1858, a son was born and named Wiley Glimp. The following day a daughter was born and named Susan, who became the wife of William Asberry Holland.

In 1872 the Tom Glimp family moved to Burnet County where Susan and William were married in the Glimp farm home, as told above.

SAMUEL E. HOLLAND

Sketch written by a granddaughter, Alta Holland Gibbs of Burnet in 1956.

Samuel Eley Holland's ancestry was rooted in the great political dispersal in Britain when, according to family tradition, three Holland brothers fled their homeland. One went to the Netherlands, one to Germany and one to Wales—therefore a Dutch, a German and a Welsh branch developed from the same English family. The Welsh Holland was the forbear of this subject who was born on a plantation in Troup County, Georgia, December 6, 1826. In 1846, he, with other young Georgians, loaded their wagons and started to Texas. During February, 1847, they arrived at the village of Austin. Camping near the present State Capitol ground, they began cutting cedar for Austin buildings.

Late in 1847 or early in 1848 in order to protect the Texas frontier against Indian depredations, Capt. Henry McCullough established a Ranger Camp three miles south of the present town of Burnet, on the south banks of Hamilton Creek. In July 1848, Samuel E. Holland set out on horseback from Austin to visit his brother-in-law who was a member of the Ranger force at the McCullough camp. While visiting the Camp he observed the beautiful natural scenery, the fertile soil, the ample supply of wood, water, and grass in the valley of Hamilton Creek; he became interested in the Mormon Falls, and the assurance of all things needed for good living and future prosperity so he made a deal with Capt. McCullough, who was acting attorney for Mr. John P. Rozier, owner of this desirable property. On July 3rd the transaction was completed, and Samuel E. Holland paid in full for a tract of land, 1280 acres, the price being fifty cents per acre. He remained to celebrate the Fourth of July with the Rangers; then began his ride back over the wilderness trails to Austin.

The following week, young Holland drove his scantily laden wagon back to his purchase, pitched camp across the creek from the Ranger Camp, and commenced at once to clear the rich spots of land along the creek bank. At night he worked assembling a log cabin. Thus was made the first permanent home and farm in that area.

Holland

In October, 1848, the McCullough Ranger Camp gave way to Fort Croghan, established by the U. S. Dragoons. Mr. Holland now protested the Fort being located on his land so it was moved three miles up the creek where the town of Burnet was later built. By the year 1852 the population had increased so the citizens began talking of a county. Samuel E. Holland circulated a petition which resulted in the Fourth Texas Legislature creating Burnet County on February 5, 1852. He became the first treasurer of the county and set to work inducing other settlers to come.

To summarize the career of Samuel E. Holland in Burnet County we mention that he was the first permanent home builder, put in the first cultivated farm, strung the first wire fence, and built the first all stone house for his home.

He was issued the first marriage license when on October 4, 1852, he was wed to Mary, the daughter of Chief Justice John Scott. Their son, George Holland, was the first native born white child of Burnet County.

Samuel E. Holland was a veteran of the Mexican War, an Indian fighter, a colonel in the War Between the States and a factor in Reconstruction afterwards. He owned slaves but did not believe in slavery as a practice. It is said that Samuel E. Holland and Mr. Peter Kerr brought the first white headed cattle into this cattle country and that began the famous Herefords of today. Samuel E. Holland was interested in every major enterprise of Burnet County. He was a "Greenbacker" in politics, a Mason, and a Humanitarian.

He died Nov. 19, 1917, and lies buried in Holland Cemetery three miles south of Burnet.

Thomas A. Holland of Dallas wrote this letter in 1958.

My father, Samuel Ely (not Eley) Holland was born near the town of La Grange, Georgia. When he came to Texas with a group of other people in 1846 his younger sister, Ruda, was only 18 years old, but she came, too. She was married to Wm. B. Covington somewhere in Alabama as they were en route.

Late in 1846 my father enlisted in the U. S. Army and served as a private in the command of Gen. Zachry Taylor in the war with Mexico and the U. S. He took part in the famous Battle of Buena Vista and saw Gen. Santa Anna.

My father served Burnet County in many capacities. He was elected to the Texas Legislature about 1896, I believe, and saw two terms as Representative.

My father had an older brother, John Benjamin, who came to Texas from Georgia shortly after my father arrived here, and they lived near each other for a time before the death of the brother. His sons went farther west and became cattle and sheep men around San Angelo and westward.

Another sister of my father who came to Texas was Sally Dobkins, whom he visited about 1896 at her home in Dublin, but I know nothing of her family today. My parents and we three little boys made the trip from Burnet to Dublin, but I recall it yet and some of the pleasures we enjoyed there.

SIMRUDA CATHERINE HOLLAND

Sketch written by Ruda C. Winship, Long Beach, Calif. in 1955.

Simruda Catherine Holland was born 29 Aug. 1828, probably in Troup County, Ga. When she was eighteen years of age, she started, with a group of older brothers and sisters to join their father in Texas. Somewhere in Alabama, Simruda was married 4th of Nov. 1846 to William B. Covington, a brother to the wife of John Benjamin Holland, Simruda's older brother.

In Texas, they lived at the Ranger Camp near the place where the town of Burnet was established in 1852 with the organization of Burnet County. Later they made their home in northeast Burnet County, some ten miles from the town and the last years of Simruda's life were spent in Wyoming with her sons who were cattlemen.

Five boys and two girls were born to William B. and Simruda Covington; but the girls failed to survive babyhood. The fourth son, Joseph, lived the longest.

BENJAMIN HOLLAND

2BH Benjamin Holland, lived in Greene County, Ga. and received a Negro, Jordan, in Jan. 1821 from his father at the same time Thomas Holland executed similar deeds to his other children (Deed Book GG, pages 369-410).

In March 1826 Benjamin Holland sold seven slaves for $1700 to Philip Simms (recorded in Hancock County, Georgia, Book N., page 315). In 1828 Benjamin transferred land to his brother, John R. Holland, in Pike County, and in Nov. 1828 he was acting administrator of the estate of his father, Thomas Holland, dec'd., of Greene County, Georgia. Final registration of the settlement was made in 1835, and the Hollands apparently had left Greene County since the 1830 Census does not list them there. Benjamin was of Monroe County before that date, and we believe he was in White County, Tenn., near his older brother, Harrison Holland, in the 1850 Census since Benjamin Holland, b. 1805 in Georgia was listed with his wife, Delila, b 1804 in Virginia and their six children all born in Tennessee after 1830.

Children: Nancy ,b. 1832
Lucinda, b. 1840

Alliston, b. 1843
Mary, b. 1845
Marthal, b. 1847

Holland

From the archivist of the Texas Library, Austin, we learn that a Benjamin Holland served in the Texas Navy from April to September 1836, and that another Benjamin Holland served in the command of Colonel J. W. Fannin in winning independence from Mexico.

A letter written by Sarah H. Nelms to her older brother William Holland in Indiana reflects her fine mind, and a cross section of the contemporary economy. Here are excerpts:

Marion, Perry County, Ala.
June 14, 1841

Dear Brother:

You heard of course that Mr. Nelms is no more. He died Sept. 7, 1838 in his 44th year, of the Bilious Congestive Fever. I am happy to say his last moments were calm and that he closed his eyes in death resigned to the will of his Father in Heaven. The longer I live the more I value the importance of a happy death.

Owing to the unsettled state of Mr. Nelm's affairs at the time of his death and to the corruption of his Executor, we have sustained sad reverses of fortune. After his death every negro, every piece of land, house, beast, bed and string were exposed to public sale to satisfy large security debts, and his individual debts—many of them never heard of before.

The Executor has mystified the affairs, and complicated and concealed his transactions so much that but little doubt remains of fraud in his conduct.

I have at this time a few negroes, a piece of land, and enough to support life upon with industry and courage. I have three sons grown but they never stay at home regularly and consequently I am my own overseer, and spend the most of my time in the field. I do not suppose there is a negro in Perry County that does more actual labor than I do.

* * * * *

I love my children and after spending my life for their good shall die happy if they will properly appreciate my exertions in their behalf and profit by my lessons of precept and example.

Provisions average, I think, fully three times in price what they do in your country—for instance, corn is worth here $5 per bbl. and in your state but one. Bacon, flour, etc. in proportion. We have fine prospects for good corn and cotton crops—wheat was better than common this year.

Money is rather scarce, and rag money at that.

* * * * *

I must close my long letter wishing you to give my love to your wife, and to all the young Hollands.

Your sister sincerely and affectionately,
Sarah H. Nelms

JACKSON FAMILY RECORD

John Jackson married Eave Still, 16 April 1808, with John Allen, bondsman, and James Morris, District Clerk, as witness—recorded in Rutherford County, N. C. Marriage Bonds and certified by W. O. Geer, Register of Deeds, 3 July 1958.

The 1810 Census for Rutherford County listed John Jackson and wife, each under 26, with a small son and daughter, (Henry Lyda and Elizabeth).

In Feb. 1811 John Jackson purchased 100 acres of land for $100 from Bozias Still, Buncombe County (Deed Book 21, p. 15) witnessed by Thomas Dugan and Jacob Lyday. We are told by family historians that Bozias Still ploughed into a den of snakes hibernating in a hillside field and, in fright and disgust, he tossed his farm implement over a cliff, declared he would leave North Carolina to the snakes and the devil and would remove himself and family to Tennessee and back to Virginia! This he proceeded to do in part as evidenced by his numerous land sales dated 1811 and his presence in White County, Tenn., shortly afterward where he acted as a useful citizen in local court records at Sparta.

In December 1815 John Jackson received from the State of North Carolina for 50 shillings a 100 acre grant situated in Buncombe County along the Lyday Hay Stack Branch of Clear Creek (Book H., page 269).

By deed dated 12 Jan. 1818, proved and registered in 1837 (Book 21, page 21), John Jackson sold to James Owen both the above pieces of land for the sum of $350 and migrated to East Tenn. We have evidence that he joined Bozias and the other Still and Lyda connections in White County by 1820.

Three years later he bought land in Marion County in the Sequatchie River Valley (Book A and B, pages 138-139, Jasper, Tenn.). Henry Jackson also owned land in Marion County and John witnessed the deeds. In 1835 both John and Henry Jackson sold their Marion County holdings, and their respective residences were Cherokee and St. Clair counties, Ala. John and Eave with their unmarried children were in Walker County, Ga. by 1840 located at Chickamauga, near the home of John Rickman Holland. Henry Lyda Jackson had married Ann Holland in 1835, thus commencing the Holland-Jackson ties. John Jackson owned two farms: one of them known today as "Trail's End," a registered Hereford cattle farm. That was the old homestead though the house has been replaced by a colonial brick. John Jackson died shortly before 1850 after hauling a load of fresh meat to LaFayette and selling it for four cents a pound, we are told, and the son, Henry L., settled the family estate by selling this farm to the Scott family, some of whom have remained at Chickamauga to this generation. A small portion of this land was released to the United States Government in 1893 by the Scott heirs to be included in the National Park, commemorating the Battle of Chickamauga, Sept. 19-20, 1863.

Jackson

There was once a Jackson Family Cemetery above the bank of the Chickamauga Creek, remembered especially for the profusion of two-toned pink roses, but a former owner had the grave-stones and the roses removed in order to plant the land in wheat. John and Eave were buried in the family cemetery.

The fact that so many Jacksons were in North Carolina in early 1800, that our family moved frequently, and that the Walker County, Ga., court house burned in 1863 and in 1893 has made this search particularly tedious, but we expect, in a reasonable time to identify our Revolutionary ancestor and the early background of our Jacksons. For that reason we list John Jackson as Generation 2. John and Eave were both born in North Carolina.

JOHN HOLLAND LAMAR JACKSON

A TRIBUTE

My grandfather, Henry Lyda Jackson and his family came from Georgia in 1852 to visit his brothers-in-law; John Benjamin Holland, Samuel Eley Holland and William B. Covington of Burnet County.

At Fort Gates, in Coryell County, my grandmother, Ann Holland Jackson, died and was buried in June of 1853.

Soon afterward, my grandfather, with his nine children went to Ellis County. First he bought cottonwood lumber from a saw-mill located in the forks of Chambers Creek near the present site of Maypearl, and built a house.

On the 24th of December, 1853, Henry Lyda Jackson was married to Mary Presley, who was 16 years of age; quite a young stepmother for 9 children! In 1857, my father, John Holland Lamar Jackson, married Susan Louise Presley, a sister of his stepmother. They were both very young; he was 21 and she was 14 years old.

My father helped to organize and build schools and churches and he held the highest degree in the Odd Fellows Lodge.

He was a school trustee for many years, then he turned his duties over to me and I served for 15 years.

In his later years my father often said he should have done more for his own family and less for outside interests but he was rated a successful and wealthy man and his policy was to live daily the Golden Rule. That is my belief also.

Jackson

This tribute is written to honor my parents, John Holland Lamar Jackson and Susan Louise Presley Jackson; my grandparents, Henry Lyda Jackson and Nancy Ann Holland Jackson, and all the Ellis County Pioneers — my relatives and many others less close to me.

Written this the 18th day of June 1956 by Calvin Monroe Jackson, born at Ozro, Ellis County, the 11th day of March 1869 — age 87 years at this date.

BENJAMIN FRANKLIN JACKSON

Sketch written by Dr. Luke B. Jackson, San Antonio, 8 July 1956.

On August 19, 1840 Benjamin Franklin Jackson was born, the third son of Henry L. and Ann H. Jackson. We are told that their house was located on the Georgia-Alabama state line; so Ben's activities covered at least part of two states.

When Ben was twelve years old it was decided the family would visit relatives in Texas—the maternal grandfather, John R. Holland, and others, and then to Oregon.

A stop was made at Fort Gates near the present town of Gatesville, Coryell County.

Twice in that year the colonists had been brought into the Fort because of the threat of Indian raiding parties.

It was after such a raid that Henry L. Jackson joined a volunteer expedition to follow the raiders and recover stolen property; especially the horses.

On the return of the volunteer party after several days absence Henry L found that his wife, Ann Holland Jackson, had died and been buried in the Fort Gates Cemetery.

Jackson

By the time Ben Jackson reached manhood our nation was divided by states rights. Secession was followed by civil strife.

The Jacksons were opposed to secession but they were loyal citizens and Democrats and cast their lot with the State.

On the 14th of March, 1862, Ben enlisted in the 15th Texas Infantry, Company E. for three years. His company was present and took over on the line near the Chickamauga Mill at noon, September 20, 1863, where the bitter fighting occurred. The Ohio, Indiana and Illinois troops suffered great loss of lives as attested by the monuments erected in their memory at Lookout Mountain, Tenn.

The 15th Texas Infantry also took part in the Battles of Missionary Ridge, Lookout Mountain, also in Louisiana under Gen. Richard Taylor at Mansfield and Pleasant Hill where northern General Banks was defeated as he attempted to overrun Texas in 1864. Ben Jackson became an expert rifleman and served as sharpshooter. He and his brother, Thomas Benton Jackson, were together all during the war. When they returned home, Ben and Tom bought land in Ellis County at $2 per acre and split rails to enclose their fields.

On March 4, 1866, Ben F. Jackson was married to Eady Elvena Swofford. Before the wedding he had built a cabin of peeled elm logs. He possessed one pony and one ox. The pony worked in the morning and the ox in the afternoon as Ben tilled the soil, and both animals grazed at night. For the first year of their married life, this young couple had one Mexican gourd filled with sugar and one gallon of sorghum molasses for sweets—that was typical of young folk starting out in those days.

Fourteen children were born to this couple, ten of them reached maturity, and seven are living today.

Ben Jackson donated the land for the old Salem church near Grandview and he served as a Baptist deacon all the active years of his life.

In November 1896, he moved his family to Coryell County where he bought land along both sides of the Cow House Creek, 16 miles south of Gatesville. This was later divided into ten farms for the children along with a gift of a thousand dollars for each child. This land is embraced in Fort Hood today.

Jackson

THOMAS BENTON JACKSON

Sketch written by Velma Stiles Hilburn of Lubbock, and Frances Stiles of Midlothian in 1957.

"Thomas Benton, fourth child of Henry Lyda and Ann Holland Jackson, was born in Georgia, came to Texas with his parents in 1852, moved to Ellis County one year later where he remained until his death in Waxahachie in 1928.

"In 1862, at the age of 20, he enlisted in Co. E. 15th Texas Infantry. Although he participated in eight battles and was captured, he, as well as two older brothers, returned home uninjured at the end of the war.

"As the frontier country in which he lived had few schools, he received only eight full days of formal schooling. However, through application and keen observation, he acquired general and wide knowledge becoming what would be considered today an educated man.

Married about 1860 to Louise Gordon of Chickamauga/Crawfish Springs, Ga. About 1870, Andrew and Louise left Ga. for Ark. and Texas. The year 1875 was spent on the farm of an older brother, Henry Lyda Jackson, in Ellis County, and the following year Andrew J. Jackson farmed and kept cattle for a Mr. Wardlow. In 1877, the Jackson family left with a herd of jointly owned cattle for the open ranges of Jack County. A year later, Louise G. Jackson died there leaving Andrew with eight children.

GROUP I

4AJJ1 Hansel Gordon Jackson, "Happy Jack," was born in Ga. in 1862

In 1935 the Calgary Herald, newspaper of Calgary, Alberta, Canada, published an interview with Hansel G. Jackson as reported by D. A. McCannel.

Jackson

Excerpts:

"My father was a North Carolina gentleman. While we children were quite young, he joined a covered wagon train to Arkansas and Texas and the New Mexico cattle country. I've seen plenty of folks put out the fire, lock the cabin door, call the dog and hit the trail."

Alberta was the fifth country Hansel G. Jackson has seen settled. It has been said that Jackson knew every white man living in New Mexico at one time. He rode for cattle outfits in Texas, New Mexico, Arizona, Kansas and Oklahoma in addition to Old Mexico. From the Corelitos Ranch he took a train load of one thousand longhorn cattle shipped by Gordon, Ironsides and Fares to their range in Alberta where he renewed a friendship with D. J. Beresford and accepted the job as range rider where he was to remain for 32 years seeing the Texas longhorns replaced by the Herefords. He retired at age 74 but remained on the ranch in his quarters which he built and christened "The Wolf Den."

He died there shortly after this interview.

I was born in Walker County, Ga., in 1866, lived briefly in Arkansas, then in Texas. In 1885 I came to King County to work for Hensley and Oliver then for the Kit Carter Land Company. Next I worked for the Espuela Outfit in Dickens County, but from April 1891 to 1924 I was with the Matador Land and Cattle Company—several years as a cowhand, then as a range boss, and the last 15 years as superintendent.

In 1891 Charlie Morris, Joe Russell, Bob Haley, Jinks Sears, Roy McLain, and some others of us rode the worst wild horses that were ever seen in Motley County, or any other county according to my opinion.

Also we stretched approximately 400 miles of fence around the Matador Ranch at a cost of $100 a mile. (End of Diary.)

This sketch was sent by Mrs. George Walter Jackson, Globe, Ariz.

George Walter was only two years old when his mother died. The father, Andrew J. Jackson, was a carpenter and cattleman so he took the two younger boys with him as he worked.

When G. Walter was 17, he went to Motley County where his older brother, John Morgan, was wagon boss for the Matador Land and Cattle Company. Walter worked there for 10 years. He and I were married when he was 24. He was a home loving man so he gave up the range riding and started a farm and small ranch of our own in Dickens County.

Fifteen years later we moved to Arizona, northern part, to a larger ranch, but Walter developed heart trouble from the altitude so we went to Phoenix, then to Young, Arizona, in Pleasant Valley. Walter was an active Mason in Texas serving as Worshipful Master for the Lodge at Dickens for eight years. He was made deacon in the Missionary Baptist Church when he was only 26 and served until his death. He was 73 at death and his pastor, Rev. E. Lawson, conducted the funeral service. Dave Sparks delivered a eulogy to him.

HOYLE-SWOFFORD HISTORY

Our record of the Hoyle family begins in the year 1189 when a man whose surname was Heyl served under Frederick of Barbarossa and with Richard the Lion-hearted of England during the Third Crusade into Palestine.

The next reference we have is Dec. 1335, when one Ritter Berringer Heilo is mentioned as a leader in battles under Louis V, Emperor of Bavaria. Heilo captured Margrave Ludwig and held him for ransom. Ransom was paid in the form of the City of Beisenthal and revenue was received from it by the Heyl family until the end of feudalism in Europe. The term "Ritter" was the German equivalent of "Marquis" in France or "Knight" in England. Again, in the year 1560 in Spandau, near the Berlin of today, we find records of the Heyl brothers: Peiter and George. About that date a plague swept the city and many died, others fled for safety, and the city was burned in an effort to stop the plague.

Peiter Heyl went to Wiesbaden. The famous University of Heidelberg was capital of that section at the time. George remained in the Spandau area and was married in the beautiful and historic church "Nickolai Kirche" in 1597.

The Heyls and related families became involved in religious controversies and suffered persecution for their faith.

Henry IV of Navarre was protestant and favorable toward the Reformation, but he married Margaret, daughter of Catherine de Medici, who is blamed for the massacre on St. Bartholomew's Day.

Henry established two cities of refuge: Nantes and La Rochelle. After the death of King Henry IV, his son Louis XIII and Cardinal Richelieu took La Rochelle and drove the protestants (called Huguenots) from France. Most of the Huguenots fled to the German Palatinate sector for protection. This rich and fertile land in southwest Germany, just west of the Rhine River between Mainz and Karlsruhe, had been German territory since Caesar crossed the Alps in 55 B.C. finding there the Suevis, Swabians and Swopes. In the year 1685 Louis XIV attacked this sector to punish the inhabitants for having granted protection and succor to the Huguenots. He burned nineteen cities, warning the almost one half million people to leave the area within three days. It has been said that not a vine or an almond tree was left on the sunny slopes of Heidelberg after he had finished his destruction. Some of the unhappy people went to Belgium, others to Holland or North Germany. These events precipitated the first mass emigration from the continent.

In October 1708, there were some thirteen thousand Germans camped in tents on the outskirts of London, allowed there by Queen Anne who said, "I want in my American Colonies these industrious, thrifty, sober, land loving, God fearing people." Our Heyl family was represented by both those who subsequently came to America and those who stayed behind.

GENERATION V.

George Heyl, fifth child of Adam and Nancy, came as our first known immigrant to America, arriving 11 Aug. 1732 aboard the ship, The Dragon of London with ship master, Charles Hargrove, from Rotterdam via Plymouth. (See Rupp's "Thirty Thousand Names of Pennsylvania Immigrants," page 73 for the name of George Hans Heill.)

Hoyle-Swofford

Peiter Heil, b. 14 May 1710 (in England, we suppose), -d. 1761 in North Carolina. Peiter is our second known Heyl immigrant.

Married 7 April 1730 to Catherine Dales, b. 10 April 1714, -d. 7 April 1787 in N. C. Peiter and Catherine came in the ship Robert and Alice of Dublin with Walter Goodman, commander, landing at Philadelphia 11 Sept. 1738. Immediately he signed the Oath of Allegiance to King George II of Britain and to the Province of Pennsylvania. However, in the Spanish Alarm of 1748 this immigrant ancestor of ours was enrolled as a militiaman in Captain Dry's Company and again under the command of Captain Samuel Corbin. Peiter Heyl also served as a member of the Committee of Safety in 1748. Others of our relatives served during these times and throughout the struggle for American Independence from British Rule. (See COLONIAL RECORDS, Vol. 22 and Vol. 23 D.A.R. Membership Roster, Hoffman's, Our Kin, and Rucker's Peiter Heyl and His Descendants.)

NOTE: The State Library at Harrisburg, Pa. will send (for fifty cents) a record of the shipping list of Capt. Walter Goodman. Name number 30 on that list is Peiter Heyl.

ALSO: Dr. Jur Bernhardt Koerner, whose mother was Augusta Heyl—a prominent woman of Germany during her long lifetime—published in 1907 volumes X and XIII of The Heyls in Berlin and Wiesbaden. All the names we have listed thus far are to be found in this latter volume. After he had recorded the birth and marriage of Adam Heyl and Nancy Leister, he made this simple notation—"Lost sight of." The data published by Dr. Koerner are identical to that handed down to us by the early families of Heyls in this country.

 -d. 16 Jan. 1820
 Michael Costner, b. 12 March 1767,
 -d. 14 June 1821
 Elizabeth Costner, b. 4 May 1769

These records are on file in Lincoln County, N. C.

The deaths of our immigrant Peiter and his eldest son occurred about the same date in 1761. According to the old English custom or law, the estate must go to the first born son, so the heir to both estates was Martin, the eldest son of Jacob and grandson of Peiter, the immigrant.

Upon attaining his majority Martin divided the property of his grandfather with his three uncles and then shared his part with his two sisters, Hannah and Anne. It was not customary for female heirs to receive land so the aunts and sisters of Martin were given their portions in money and other valuables.

These early Hoyles were known as sober and clever folk; they built sturdy homes, schools and churches, one established a post office at Dallas, N. C., another donated land for a cemetery, and, while their neighbors and friends made, sold and drank whiskey—the Hoyles abstained. One typical Hoyle mother of that day, Elizabeth Hoyle Costner, it is said, admonished her sons daily, "Every one of you need all of your mother wit—do not befuddle your brain with whiskey."

These are our ancestors: we who claim the late Benjamin Franklin Jackson and Eady Elvena Swofford, in whose honor the Jackson Family Reunion was founded in 1928 at Lampasas, along with others of the Hoyle-Swofford lineage, are descended from this family. For that reason we include these records and preserve a large file of unpublished data.

(Pension Application No. R-8455) John and Eady Swofford resided in Cleveland County, and possibly in Gaston County, N. C. before their departure for the West. We have been told that three Swofford brothers left North Carolina together. We know that our ancestor reached North Arkansas on Christmas Eve 1849. They settled near Yellville, Ark. but others started for California and perished in the famous Indian Massacre at Mountain Meadow. In 1857 our family moved to Texas. They ferried across the Red River at Denison, and located at Van Alstyne for a few years, then moved to Johnson County where John Hoyle Swofford acted as postmaster at Grandview following the War Between the States. He is buried at Grandview. Eleven children were born to this couple, and two children were born to the second wife, Margaret Elizabeth Perkins, whom J. H. Swofford married in Johnson County in 1877.
